With a full spectrum of finishing options, you and your designer will create a space that reflects your unique, personal style.

Also available from Schrock:

E ENTRA™ SERIES

T TRADEMARK™ SERIES

When your project calls for additional nuance - like storage, organizational features and additional touches that are uniquely you - step up to Trademark™ Series.

DESIGNER TIP

Finish selections should never be made from a printed brochure or website. Please contact a local dealer in your area to visit their showroom and view a door sample or kitchen display in the door style, material species and finish color that you are interested in purchasing. This will ensure the best match of expectations with actual results.

*When Maple painted finishes (Paints, Sherwin-Williams or Brushed Technique) are specified, the center panels of the selected style may be constructed of Medium Density Fiberboard (MDF). MDF provides a smoother finish when painted, and is more resistant to warping, expansion, and contraction.

DESIGNER TIP

You can intentionally choose hardware to be the jewelry of your design and stand out, or choose hardware that contrasts slightly with your cabinet finish to create visual interest without overwhelming the design. For a timeless look, pair dark-toned cabinets with brushed nickel or matte black hardware, and light-toned cabinets with warm metals like copper or brass.

PENPED GLAZES FOR PAINTS*

Glazes are another way to make your design uniquely yours and add character and depth to your cabinet design. Choose Penned Glaze for a concentrated glaze detail in the crevices of the cabinet drawer and door fronts.

STAINS

JUST THE RIGHT FINISH.

Kitchen and bath cabinets are largely about the finish. A stain-finished cabinet can add extra texture and character to a design. Stain affords an opportunity to spotlight the selected wood species by showcasing the grain and other features of that wood. Stained cabinets also tend to be easier to touch up over time which can make them a good choice for heavily used rooms in the home.

DESIGNER TIP

When choosing a lighter stain, be aware that it will show more of a wood species' character than a darker stain. If that's not your design objective, consider a wood species with a more subtle grain or fewer variations, or choose a darker stain that will mask some of the wood's distinctive features.

MIX AND MATCH.

Cabinet color mixing is trending. Most commonly, homeowners are choosing a contrasting island color but there are options beyond that. One of these options is to use a unique finish for a specific section of cabinetry to allow it to stand out. Consider this for a coffee station or pantry portion of your kitchen.

Here are some of our favorite paint and stain pairings.

DESIGNER TIP

Cerusing wood is a centuries-old technique used to add interest to wood finish. Especially popular during the Art Deco era, cerusing has regained popularity by offering low-key sophistication to an array of styles, from old world charm to modern farmhouse to classic traditional and beyond.

SHEEN

EXTRA HEWN

This more aggressive technique features burnished sand-through on corners and raised profiles along with sanding on sharp profiles to expose underlying wood. Unlike Vintage, Vintage Plus is a random sand-through technique varying the number of corners and raised profiles receiving burnished sand-through and the sanding of sharp profiles. As with normal aging, the worn edges will vary within individual doors and throughout the entire room.

MATTE SHEEN

(Top portion of door)
Our low sheen top coat is less reflective and absorbs more light, resulting in a softer, more muted look. Available on all stains, glazed stains, paints and glazed paints.

SATIN SHEEN

(Lower portion of door)
Our timeless original top coat features a moderate sheen which is reflective without being too glossy. Available on all stains, glazed stains, paints and glazed paints.

DESIGNER TIP

With so many options to choose - paint, stain, glaze, sheen and aging techniques - decision-making can feel overwhelming. Know that you are in good hands - your designer will help you select the best options for your desired look.
